COMPROMISE PLAN FRAMED BY SENATORS

Latest Attempt To Settle Vexing Tax Troubles

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, June 16—(AP)—Senate tax bill conferees today produced a new compromise plan for settling the key troubles over corporation taxes, but it met with no immediate favor among house conferees.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house group, seeking to reconcile differences with the senate, said the senators, who left a morning session early, had submitted a "counter proposal." No details were given out.

The house conferees said they wanted to study it before giving any intimation as to whether they might be inclined to accept.

Doughton said the conferees probably would meet tonight in an overtime attempt to negotiate some sort of compromise to break the deadlock which has gripped them a week and a half and which threatens to delay adjournment of congress past the opening of the Democratic national convention.

May See President

One source intimated that the new senate proposition called for retention of a corporation income tax somewhat along lines of the existing levy, with a superimposed tax on undistributed corporate earnings a bit higher than the 7 percent approved by the senate.

Word came from the White House during the day that President Roosevelt, before he left on his western trip last week, had invited the conferees to meet with him again if their deadlock persisted. It was said he requested for such a conference had been made as yet, however.

On Capitol Hill there was talk that the President might discuss the controversial measure with the conferees.

Farmer Kicked in Face by Colt Monday

Lester Hill, farmer, residing east of Dixon, is in the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital suffering from severe injuries sustained at noon yesterday when he was kicked in the face by a horse. The facial bones were shattered and both eyes were injured, but attending physicians believe that the eyesight will not be impaired.

Mr. Hill was plowing corn in a field when the team became frightened and ran away, pulling the tongue out of the plow. The animals finally stopped and it was while he was engaged in unloading them from the twisted harness the one of the animals, a colt, kicked him. He was taken at once to the hospital and reports today indicated that he was resting comfortably.

Aged Transient is Hospital Patient

Ernest Dethloff, aged 81, formerly of Fond du Lac, Wis., a transient, is in a critical condition at the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital where he was taken yesterday afternoon, suffering from a complication of ailments. Chief of Police Van Bibber was called to the Seventh street crossing of the Illinois Central yesterday afternoon about 4:30 when it was reported that an aged stranger had fallen on the tracks and was unable to regain his feet.

Arriving on the scene, Chief Van Bibber found that the man was completely exhausted and he was removed to the police station, where a physician examined him and advised his immediate removal to the hospital.

The bonus bonds issued for delivery to veterans increased the debt by $1,600,000,000. Sale of treasury obligations to supplement reserves increased the debt by $1,100,000,000.

The treasury yesterday retired $1,025,000,000 in maturing obligations through conversion into new obligations. The turnover of funds also included payment of $70,000,000 in interest on the debt.

BIG THREE-DAY SALES SET FOR DIXON IN JULY

About 50 Dixon merchants and professional men gathered at the city hall last evening to discuss a program of activities to be undertaken during the summer and fall months. A three day Dixon city-wide clearance sale in July was decided upon. During the three-day period, special inducements will be offered by the merchants of Dixon to the trade area of this city.

The importance of the merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce was emphasized as being an important factor in the city's successful business life and monthly meetings of this department was advised with the addition of committee members. Several suggestions were offered by those present. H. V. Massey, chairman of the division, presided at the meeting.

Plans were also discussed for holding the semi-annual Dollar day in Dixon and a Christmas parade and pageant on December 12.

Irish Sweepstakes Money Spent Here

Some of that Irish sweepstakes money found its way into the pocket of George Murray, Dixon automobile dealer, last week.

Richard O'Connor of Chicago, who woke up from pleasant dreams one morning and found the pot of gold right at the foot of his bed in the form of $3500 cash, the result of winning a sweepstakes award, came to Dixon to visit and while here purchased a new car.

"He knew where to come to trade," said George as he swelled his chest, "and if I don't toot it for me."

Suspected Slayer of Geneva Tea Room Girl Believed to Have Been North of Rockford Saturday Night

Geneva, Ill., June 16—(AP)—A murder charge was lodged today against Rinaldo Di Piero, 50, missing son of pretty Nella Penunzi, 22, who was found shot to death in a thicket near St. Charles, Ill.

A warrant for Di Piero's arrest, sworn out by Chief Deputy Sheriff Cecil Reilly of Kane county, was issued by W. A. Ketcher, Geneva, justice of the peace. This development came as Kane county authorities were turning the hunt for Di Piero to Wisconsin.

Miss Penunzi, manager of a Geneva tea room, had rejected Di Piero after a long courtship. Sheriff Albert J. Kampmeyer said he was informed. She was last seen in his company.

Madison, Wis., authorities were asked to take up the search on the story of L. L. Rush of Rockford, Ill., who said a hitchhiker he picked up in the outskirts of Rockford Saturday night answered Di Piero's description. Rush gave the hitchhiker a ride to Rockford, 14 miles north of Rockford, and 4 miles from the Wisconsin line, he reported.

SOCIETY WOMAN AND MINISTER BEATEN BY MOB

Memphis Young Woman Tells of Flogging Near Earle, Ark.

Memphis, Tenn., June 16—(AP)—A prominent young Memphis woman charged today that she and a Presbyterian minister were flogged last night near Earle, Ark., where they had gone to investigate a rumored slaying in a cotton strike.

Miss Willie Sue Blagden, 23-year-old member of a prominent Memphis family, told officers that she and the Rev. Claude Williams of Little Rock were beaten by a band of men when they refused to reveal the name of the man they had gone to Earle to interview.

Miss Blagden said she was struck four times across the back and thighs with a heavy leather strap studded with brads and that her companion was lashed 14 times.

After the flogging, she was put on a train for Memphis and she did not know what had become of the clergyman, identified by her as a member of the Religion & Labor Foundation. She expressed fear that he might be badly hurt.

Doctor Found Bruises

A doctor, who asked that his name be withheld, said he examined Miss Blagden and found three bruises about five inches wide across her back and thighs.

Miss Blagden said that she and the Rev. Williams had gone to the Arkansas town in an effort to determine if Frank Weems, Negro tenant farmer, had been beaten fatally in an altercation growing out of the eastern Arkansas cotton strike.

Sheriff Howard Culin of Crittenden county promised an investigation of the affair today and said he was not aware of the incident until it was reported to him by Nat Fowler, attorney for the Southern Tenant Farmers' Union which is sponsoring the cotton strike.

Diphtheria, Small-pox Conditions Bad

Springfield, Ill., June 16—(AP)—Dr. Frank L. Jirka, director of public health, announced today that the 19 new cases of small-pox last week was an "unusually bad record" for this season and pointed toward trouble next fall and winter. Will county had 13 of the cases, he said.

There also were 59 cases of diphtheria, the highest incidence since February, he said, adding that a high June incidence of that disease usually portends trouble in the fall.

Malaria with 12 new cases last week is substantially higher in prevalence than last year, he said, but typhoid fever, scarlet fever, pneumonia, influenza and epidemic meningitis trends are definitely downward.

Tropical Storm is Redeveloping Near the Bahama Islands

Jacksonville, Fla., June 16—(AP)—Summer's first tropical storm in this section picked up new vigor today and headed in the general direction of Bermuda.

The weather bureau, which last night, reported the disturbance virtually dissipated over the northern Bahama islands, said today the storm had redeveloped and was moving rapidly northeastward toward Bermuda.

Reports received by forecasters indicated the center of the storm was about 400 miles southwest of Bermuda at 9:30 A. M., Eastern Standard Time. Those reports said the disturbance was of moderate intensity.

No injuries were reported in the storm path but the disturbance was charged with the death of three coast guardsmen whose plane fell into Tampa Bay near St. Petersburg while they were on storm patrol yesterday.

SOME VETERANS TURN BONUS TO VET TREASURY

Refuse To Cash In On Immediate War Payments

Washington, June 16—(AP)—The bonus went begging in several quarters today.

As Uncle Sam polished off distribution of $1,650,000,000 in baby bonds to 3,000,000 world veterans and turned to the job of satisfying those who preferred cash to bonds, there appeared certain potential beneficiaries who rendered a polite "no, thank you."

Donald A. Hobart, commander of the American Veterans' Association, which claims 15,000 members, announced in New York that between 500 and 500 members had denied to themselves personal use of their bonds but were turning them into the organization's treasury to help in its campaign for more funds for wounded ex-soldiers and war widows.

He said the association is definitely opposed to preferential treatment of veterans who were not disabled, but added there was no organized move to refuse bonus.

Some Didn't Apply

New York's Mayor F. H. La Guardia went without his bonus for service that included action as an aviator on the Italian front. He hadn't even applied for it.

United States District Judge Leon Yankwich of Los Angeles said he did not expect to apply.

"I have never felt that the nation owed me anything for my war service," he added.

Payment to veterans will be fairly well completed by the end of the week, postal officials said. Veterans cashing their bonds will start receiving their government checks tomorrow, they explained.

"All Hell Popping" Last Words of Broker to His Friend Before His Death

Widow Unmoved As Damning Story is Related

Chicago, June 16—(AP)—Shortly after Harold Goldberg, official of a Hammond, Ind., pawn shop, pointed out Mrs. Mildred Bolton to the woman to whom he sold a revolver a few days ago, the grand jury was reported today to have voted a true bill charging her with the murder of her husband, Joseph W. Bolton, Jr., in his insurance office yesterday.

A receipt for the weapon, made out to a "Sara Weston," had been found in Mrs. Bolton's purse. Police said the identification number of the pistol used in the shooting corresponded to that on the receipt.

Chicago, June 16—(AP)—A few minutes before Joseph W. Bolton, Jr., was shot to death during a quarrel with his estranged wife he told a friend "all hell is popping here," it was testified today at an inquest into Bolton's death.

The henna-haired widow, Mildred, who gave her age as 40, sat listless and without any outward signs of grief as the friend, Arthur L. Ladd, told of previous attacks he said Mrs. Bolton had made upon her husband.

Bolton died of three bullet wounds inflicted yesterday in his loop building office. The widow denied firing the shots.

Ladd, one of the first to reach Bolton after the shooting, was the only inquest witness.

"I called Bolton to ask why he hadn't kept an appointment with me," he said. "He answered me on the phone and said: 'All hell is popping here, but wait for me. I'll be over in a few minutes.'"

Found Friend Wounded

Shortly afterwards, he said, he heard there had been some trouble and hurried to Bolton's office, where he found Bolton fatally wounded.

Asked if he knew what Bolton meant when he said "hell was popping," Ladd replied:

"I ought to. I knew that he had been having trouble with his wife for the past eight years. Two years ago she stabbed him so he was in the Chicago hospital for ten days. A week ago she went to his office armed with a knife and tried to attack him, but he disarmed her before he was hurt. The first attack was in their home."

The inquest was continued until June 26 at the request of the state's attorney's office.

Kissed Dead Husband

After the inquest Mrs. Bolton was taken at her request to view her husband's body, kissed the cheeks and said "my husband," but remained dry-eyed.

Prosecutor Morris G. Meyers ordered Mrs. Bolton returned to the detective bureau and asked all witnesses to be taken to the criminal courts building, where it was indicated they would be taken before the grand jury.

Meyers said he had learned Mrs. Bolton was violently jealous over her husband's friendship with other women.

Mrs. Bolton and her husband were alone in his inner office when employees heard four or five shots. Bolton staggered out, Mrs. Bolton, the workers said, calmly directed that he be carried to a physician's office.

Heard Woman's Voice

Mrs. Bolton appeared in court early yesterday to press an assault and battery charge against Charles Russell Harned, 20. She testified Harned struck her during an altercation outside the hotel room he shared with Bolton after she had heard a woman's voice from within.

Harned said the woman was his mother Mrs. Marie Harned, operator of a bus station at Gardner, Ill. Harned was fined $100.

In a copyrighted story the American quoted Mrs. Harned as saying that she and Bolton might have become married eventually.

"My husband and I have been estranged for years and I don't even know where he is," she was quoted.

The resurrection of the stranger came from the retired scientist's daughter, Miss Beatrice Moore, and it was on this clue that authorities based their hopes for an early solution of the crime. They disclosed that Moore knew the identity of the mysterious man who visited his home, although he did not reveal his name to his daughter.

Moore's body was found early yesterday sprawled on the lawn behind his spacious home at 592 Park avenue.

87-Pound Alton Woman Choked 75-Pound Pet Bulldog to Death When It Attacked Her 4-Year-Old Child

Alton, Ill., June 16—(AP)—Rushed to the aid of her 4-year-old daughter who was being attacked by the family bulldog, Mrs. Frank Robben, who weighs 87 pounds, choked the dog into insensibility at her home in Grafton yesterday.

Mrs. Robben, here today with the child, Doris Mae, who is receiving treatment at a hospital, said the dog weighed 75 pounds. The child was bitten on the left side of the face but her eyes were untouched. Her recovery was expected, barring complications. The dog was under observation.

Mr. and Mrs. Robben said the dog, now about three years old, had been raised by the family from a pup and was a playmate of the child. The attack occurred on the lawn of the Robben home.

A quarantine on dogs, requiring that they be kept tied up, had been in force here and in many nearby communities for several weeks but not in Grafton.

Stiff Penalty

Edwardsville, Ill., June 16—(AP)—Four Alton, Ill., boys today faced sentences of from a year to life in Illinois penal institutions for stealing a fountain pen and cigarette lighter worth $12.50.

The four, Arthur Dewey Garner, 16, Delbert Tendon, 17, Fred W. Seifres, 15, and Charles Herman Pearce, 15, were convicted yesterday after pleading guilty to six burglary and larceny indictments.

"It is a severe penalty for that amount, and it is too bad," commented Circuit Judge M. V. Joyce, who sentenced them. But it was the only sentence they could receive under the rigid Illinois law.

BUILDING WORK HERE TAKES UP MUCH IDLENESS

Considerable remodeling and reconstruction work on residential dwellings in Dixon indicative of returning prosperity is in progress at this time.

The re-roofing of six homes, two hotels and a store is absorbing the unemployment list. George Christianson is building a new garage at the Nachusa Orphanage; Dr. Raymond Worsley is remodeling his houseboat; Dr. R. L. Baird is having remodeling work done on his residence; Fred Manning, Jr.'s new home on South Ottawa avenue is nearly completed, the roof having been constructed at this writing.

Carl Becker's new home on N. Dixon avenue is being wired, and is progressing nicely.

TALL, THIN MAN BEING SOUGHT; MOORE KILLER

East Orange, N. J., June 16—(AP)—Police today sought a tall, thin man, possibly an inventor crazed by jealousy or a desire for revenge, as the slayer of Daniel McFarlan Moore, 67-year-old former associate of Thomas A. Edison.

Essex county prosecutor's detectives and East Orange police planned to inspect the private papers of the murdered electrical engineer and inventor in the hope of uncovering a clue more substantial than any they now possess.

Thus far authorities had these clues to follow: A plaster cast of the killer's footprint; two discharged 22 calibre shells and, most important, a description of the stranger who was turned away from the Moore home Sunday night when he tried to see the inventor nine hours before the murder was committed.

Moore's body was found early yesterday sprawled on the lawn behind his spacious home at 592 Park avenue.

The resurrection of the stranger came from the retired scientist's daughter, Miss Beatrice Moore, and it was on this clue that authorities based their hopes for an early solution of the crime. They disclosed that Moore knew the identity of the mysterious man who visited his home, although he did not reveal his name to his daughter.

KNOX GIVEN WELCOME IN TOPEKA, KAN.

Cheered By Crowds as His Party Arrives in City

Topeka, Kas., June 16—(AP)—Col. Frank Knox, the vice-presidential nominee, accompanied by a score of Republican key men, reached here from Chicago by train today, eager for their conference on campaign strategy with Gov. Alf M. Landon, the presidential standard bearer.

A shouting crowd of several hundred, and two bands blaring campaign songs, spread over the station platform as the train rolled to a stop.

Fifty Spanish-American War veterans, some dressed in the dashing uniforms of the "Rough Riders" hailed Knox, who served under Theodore Roosevelt in that conflict.

As the station representative of Gov. Landon, Private William B. Trembley, a holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, was one of the first to clasp the hand of Knox.

John D. M. Hamilton, new Republican national chairman, stepped up to greet Knox.

"To Meet Next President"

Knox walked along the platform, greeting war veterans as a roar arose from the audience. Knox turned to the crowd and said "I am happy to be here. I have come to meet the next president of the United States."

Cheers resounded again as Knox walked toward the motor car reserved for him, former party chairman Henry P. Fletcher and Hamilton.

A score of the veterans of the "Rough Riders" followed on horseback behind the brightly uniformed bands as the procession swung through Topeka's downtown district to the Capitol Square.

Governor Landon went half way down the east steps of the Capitol to meet Knox. They shook hands warmly.

Hamilton stepped in and said "Alf—Henry Fletcher."

"Oh hello, Mr. Fletcher," said the governor to the recent Republican national chairman.

Welcomed to Campaign

As all the dignitaries assembled on the capitol steps, forming in a group around Knox and Landon, the governor said, "Well, Colonel, you look in good fighting trim. Welcome to the campaign."

"I'm happy to be here in this fight," responded Knox.

"We're going to let the truth be known about the vital issues of this campaign," added the governor.

"You have made a fine start with that telegram to the convention," said Knox.

Landon nodded toward Knox and said "Well, come on in, Colonel," and the group entered the Capitol.

Gov. Landon said visiting Republican leaders and Col. Knox would have luncheon at the executive mansion and would confer there during the afternoon.

Plans Opening Speech

The governor considered opening his drive with a speech at his birthplace, West Middlesex, Pa., shortly after the formal dedication ceremony—as yet uncheduled—and closing in Madison Square Garden, New York, a short time before the election.

The tentative plan called next for Landon to swing into New York state and New England after his Pennsylvania opening, back to the midwestern farm country and then to the pacific coast.

Today's conference was regarded as the most important on campaign plans since the Cleveland convention, which Landon followed up with an early call to battle.

The first eastern itinerary under discussion included a speech at Chautauqua, N. Y., after West Middlesex, then an appearance in some larger city of New York state, such as Buffalo or Rochester. Two trips in the Mississippi valley were considered, one to be made after the first eastern visit and one after the western.

Hamilton Welcomed

Landon had a busy day yesterday with his campaign manager, who was given an enthusiastic welcome on his return to Topeka.

The governor's day also included a visit from brusque, picturesque William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, former Democratic governor of Oklahoma, who expressed approval of the Republican platform and said he was "advo-

Both Attending Dinner
 Landon and Hamilton attended a dinner given by the Topeka Chamber of Commerce last night for the sizable corps of newspapermen here to cover the governor's activities. Neither made speeches at the "off the record" affair.

The group with Knox for the first campaign council with Landon included Charles D. Hilles of New York, Daniel J. Pomeroy of New York, and Harrison E. Spangler of Iowa.

CURIOSITY.

By Joseph Fort Newton.
THE curious thing about Kipling, it was said at the time of his death, was that he was incurious about the inward part of man and the eternal meaning and purpose of life of man.

The "old proud pageant of man," its spectacle of activity and adventure, satisfied him, thrilled him, amazed him. He had no curiosity about the ultimate meaning of it and asked no questions about it.

No difference between men is deeper, more decisive or more puzzling than the difference between the curious and the incurious. Some men take life as it is without trying to pry into it.

Others are unable to live without seeking the meaning of life or some hint of it. "An unexamined life is unlivable," said Plato; and that is literally true for some of our race.

Yet some men are not inquisitive at all about the mystery of life. Either they have made up their minds about it, or else they have given it up as a riddle no one can solve.

A perfect example is Lord Macaulay, both because he was a poet as well as a practical politician. In his poetry he does not ask those questions which haunt and torment other men.

Anyway, it is the men of curiosity who have the richest minds, and who enrich us by the questions they ask, even when they get incomplete answers. And in the nature of things that is all we get.

The poets, especially, are eager and often anxious inquirers about the meaning of things. Shelley asks more questions than Keats. Browning asks more questions than anybody, and gives the best answers.

Of course, when we come to the religious teachers we meet the grand curiosity at its best. They dare to ask final questions, and their answers make the religions by which men live.

Still the word of Jesus is true—Ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you. Happy is the man who, asking questions, finds not the answer but the Answerer!

Miss Pendleton Completes Brilliant Administration at Wellesley

Wellesley, Mass., June 14—Illinois alumnae of Wellesley College, 1,000 strong joined in sending messages of farewell to the retiring president, Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton, who ended a brilliant 25 year administration this Commencement. She is to be succeeded by a Vassar graduate, Miss Mildred Helen McAfee, now dean of women at Oberlin college.

Alumnae from nearly every state in the Union thronged the campus Saturday as they met to honor their friend, "Pres. Pen," at special ceremonies. She is more than 65 percent of its students are drawn from outside New England. Wellesley has been called the most truly national of the women's colleges. It has 70 strong alumnae associations in various parts of the country.

Fourteen beautiful Gothic buildings have risen on the 400-acre woodland campus beside Lake Waban during Miss Pendleton's presidency and the college endowment has increased by some $7,000,000. During this time, the faculty has grown from 134 to 184. Salaries have been almost doubled and Wellesley has achieved the distinction of making no cuts in staff or salaries during the depression.

Miss Pendleton called attention to the fact that there was never a better time than the present to endow scholarships or provide loan funds in American colleges, for the families of many students who would ordinarily expect to pay all their college expenses are not now able to do so. Wellesley has helped to solve the problem through two cooperative dormitories where students of high scholarship may earn $300 a year by one hour of work a day.

"College students are much more critical than they were 25 years ago," said Miss Pendleton, "and they have wider interests in politics, economics, sociology, psychology. Since they have more ideas of their own they are more interesting to teach. Their independence, however, is sometimes more appreciated in college than at home, for docility may be more comfortable in the home."

The president said that there is a large increase in the number of positions offered graduates this year. Teaching has given up first place to business. An increasingly large proportion of the graduates are going on to professional study.

Wellesley alumnae in our city are as follows:
Durkes, K.
Durkes, L.
Lyman, M. K.
White, Mrs. H. A.

Artichokes Are Easy to Cook
By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Artichokes, generally speaking, are in the same class with Nessel-pudding in this country—considered quite beyond ordinary house-keeping skill as well as budgeting pocket-books.

It's a pity the idea prevails for French artichokes usually are most plentiful in market when other fresh vegetables are scarce and high. They offer a delicious variety at a most opportune time, too, because they are very simple to prepare and serve and can take the place of a green salad.

Cook in Salted Water
To prepare for cooking, wash through several waters and cut stem close to leaves. Pull off hard outer leaves and cut off about 3-4 inch down. Let stand in cold water to cover to which vinegar has been added in the proportion of one tablespoon vinegar to one quart water. Let stand one hour and drain. Cook in boiling salted water for thirty to forty minutes. Drain and serve with Hollandaise sauce, melted butter or hot mayonnaise.

Each leaf is pulled off with the fingers, dipped into the sauce and the soft part at the end eaten, the rest discarded. After all the leaves have been pulled away and the thistle-like choke removed, the heart is eaten with a fork. This, the very best part of the artichoke, is what comes in cans at fancy prices. The sauce is served in separate individual dishes, or if thick can be served on the side of the plate.

Stuffed artichokes are grand with a filet of beef for a special dinner. They are also nice with sweetbreads for luncheon.

Stuffed Artichokes
Four globe artichokes, 1-2 pound mushrooms, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon chopped shallot, yolk 1 egg, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons oil, 4 thin slices bacon, salt and pepper, 2 carrots, 1 onion, 2 coarse blades celery, 6 sprigs parsley, bay leaf, 4 tablespoons white wine, 1-2 cups veal stock, 2 teaspoons flour.

Trim artichokes and parboil in boiling salted water for ten minutes. Drain thoroughly and remove choke. Melt butter in sauce pan, add minced onion and mushrooms, which have been peeled and chopped and cook ten minutes. Add shallot, salt and pepper and yolk of egg. Remove from the fire and mix well. Stuff prepared artichokes with mixture. Put a slice of bacon over each and tie with a cord. Put oil in a shallow sauce pan and add carrots and onions peeled and cut in thin slices, celery coarsely chopped, parsley and bay leaf. Arrange artichokes on this bed of vegetables, add stock and wine and season with salt and pepper. Cover sauce pan and simmer until tender, about an hour. Strain liquor in pan, add flour stirred to a smooth paste with a little cold water and cook and stir until thick and smooth. Pour over artichokes and serve.

FOR BETTER CITIZENS

Leading educators of New York have been looking into the standards of civics teaching in the state's public schools and have reached the conclusion that they might be a great deal better.

The New Yorkers found that, while "ample time is devoted to Latin, mathematics, English, and other subjects, civics remain the neglected orphan of the state's educational system."

Accordingly, it is proposed that more time should be given to the teaching of civics, that students should be given direct contacts with government and politics, that adequately prepared civics teachers be sought, and, finally, that the public must be aroused to require the schools to turn out public-minded students.

In these days of the ever-increasing importance of government, the New York program is one that might be emulated in all other parts of the United States.

FROM DOOR TO DESTINATION

As one innovation in transportation follows another, we are not greatly startled by the announcement that the Cedar Rapids & Northern Railway Co.
has inaugurated a service which carries the passenger from his doorway to his destination, but this enterprising company is entitled to credit for initiating such service into the transportation world. In this connection the company asserts that it was first also to offer door-to-door freight service.

This new service is offered coincident with a change in fares. Previously a one-way fare was 85 cents. Under the new scale the one-way fare from station-to-station is 55 cents. Under the scale for door-to-door transportation the rate is 75 cents from any point in Cedar Rapids to any point in Iowa City and in the opposite direction. That is 10 cents less than prior station-to-station fare.

Under the new system the passenger communicates with the railway office concerning transportation and a taxicab is furnished as the connecting link between the passenger and the railway station.

The railway is an electric system that has been in operation many years.

YOUTH COMES INTO INHERITANCE

Youth demanded a try at the controls of the republican party machinery and got it.

When resolutions were passed by young republicans' organizations a year or two ago demanding new leadership, our comment was that leadership is earned, not something that is bought over the counter.

New leadership came, but not merely because it was new. Young John Hamilton went out and earned the leadership that is his. He didn't cry for it. He is one of our own boys, born on the banks of the Mississippi river down at Fort Madison. He went to Kansas to practice law. He became a member of the Kansas house of representatives, which means that he went out and worked up from the bottom in politics. He became speaker of the house. He was made chairman of the republican state committee. He became the Kansas member of the republican national committee. He figured prominently in the Grass Roots convention in Springfield last year. Thereby he prepared himself to go out and organize in behalf of Governor Landon.

That is the way leadership is obtained, by working for it and by going step by step.

Governor Landon began as a precinct committee-man. He became chairman of the Kansas republican state committee. He held no public office before he became governor, so far as we know, but he climbed the rounds in the organization of the republican party.

Our contention that new leadership comes by first proving one's self qualified and then by the inheritance is supported by Mark Sullivan in his dispatch summing up the work of the Cleveland convention.

"It was more like the commonest processes of nature, a new generation growing up, passing out of the tutelage of leaders, evolving new ideas of their own and proceeding to function, to take over the world and its institutions as new generations must," said Sullivan.
"What happened at Cleveland was not a revolution;
there was no violence or heat in it. It was precisely like the orderly succession of generations—one group reaching the age of senescence and retirement, another reaching maturity and dominance."

That is the story and that is about all there is of the story.

These changes come more abruptly after an intermission of power. When the next train comes along, after a period of years, some of the former leaders have died, others are infirm, and others simply are aware that they have not been asked to go aboard.
Nobody knows these things better than the men who are about to pass their legacies on to the next generation.

"Mr. Hamilton seemed an example of the new, the best possible new not only in politics but throughout American life," said Sullivan further. "One characteristic of this whole new American generation is insistence on reality, quiet distaste for whatever seems to them sham or posturing or sentimentalism."

Therein lies the prospect of this country for delivery from the deceitful, the tricky, the unworthy.

THE TIMYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Drawings by GEORGE SCARBO

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The happy Timies hung on tight, and Doty said, "This crazy kite is never going to ride in air.
We're dragging near the ground."

"The magic man is running fast, but not much longer can he last.
I guess we're lucky, so far, that we all are safe and sound."

"Aw, just be patient for a while, rising now," said Doty. "I smile. Our kind old friend knows what he's doing. Leave it all to him."

"He'll run and jerk until he sees us sail away upon the breeze.
Then we all can wave down to him, as through the air we skim."

"You're right. Just look! We're rising now," said Doty. "I knew he knew how to make this plan succeed. Why, he has let go of the cord."

"He is so tired he almost flopped. 'Tis well his running fast was stopped. I hope we're bound for some place that we never have explored."

The old man still was close enough to yell, "I trust your trip's not rough. I hope you have a dandy time, wherever you may go."

"I'm glad I met you. Yes, siree. You've meant a lot of fun to me. You are the finest little tots I ever hope to know!"

And then he heard fair Doty say, "Oh, thanks! We may come back some day. Take real good care of your kind self. We're very fond of you."

"We never will forget that we have you to thank for what we see, and we'll appreciate it, whether it is old or new."

And then the big kite rose so high, it really seemed lost in the sky. The Timies were so excited they just gazed around.

Two birds flew by and one cried out, "Hey, just what is this all about? What are you doing in the air. Tots should be on the ground."

ROCHELLE NEWS

BY ARTHUR T. GUEST.

Rochelle.—For the first time in the history of the Rochelle Town & Country club a left-handed golf tournament will be held, June 25th.
Rochelle's golf course was selected as the site of the annual left-handed golf tournament at a meeting held at Sterling last year.

The Left-Handed Golfers Association was organized in August, 1924, at Rock Falls, and each year the Association conducts a tournament for its members. The club is composed of golfers of three states, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois. Nearly fifty men participated in last year's tournament and each year more interest is manifested in the unique affair.

According to experts the local course is the most perfect left-handed course in northern Illinois and the members are looking forward with eager anticipation to the meet. The Association meets each year to select officers and vote on a site for the ensuing year's tournament. Last year the following officials were named and they have charge of the coming tournament:
President, John Carter; secretary-treasurer, Jay Maxson; supervisor, Tom Burke.

DAILY HEALTH

FEAR

Fear may be defined as psychic pain. This definition is essentially of a functional nature, comparing the "purposefulness" of fear with that of bodily pain.

Pain is construed as a danger signal of the presence of underlying physical danger. In like manner fear may be interpreted as a danger signal of some threat to the individual's welfare. The threat may arise from the individual's physical environment, in which instance the fear usually will be of an objective nature. Or the fear may arise from some inner emotional or psychologic conflict, in which instance it is more likely to be subjective.

Objective fears usually center about some readily defined object or condition. One may fear fire, water, vicious animals, heights, etc. Subjective fears are usually vague. Examples of such fears may be sickness, solitude, crowds or what the individual calls the threat of sickness or failure or of disaster. A study of these subjective fears usually fails to reveal any warrant for them. The person who fears sickness is quite frequently found to be in good health, and the individual who fears failure may indeed be judged by those about him as eminently successful.

Fear, like pain, has its proper role in human and animal physiology and complete fearlessness is no more desirable than is that pathologic condition in which the individual loses the capacity to experience physical pain. In both instances the completely fearless, as the "painless" individual may be exposed to very serious danger without being able to appreciate it, and thus to avoid it or deal with it effectively.

However, fear (and pain) may be disproportionate to the occasion and may become, because of its intensity and persistence, an independent disease condition.

To be afraid where life or well-being are threatened is desirable, but to be "afraid on one's shadow" is to suffer a serious handicap.

Tomorrow—Fear in Childhood.

It is said that the fuel consumed by the average automobile running 60 miles an hour gives off sufficient heat to maintain a 50-room house at 70 degrees when the outside temperature is at the freezing point.

Recent investigations have shown that the average speed of motorists by day is 43.3 miles an hour, and by night 41.5.

Following a dinner at 6:30 P. M., served by the White Shrine ladies, the meeting was called to order and officers for the first year were elected. Charles A. Zoeller, Asst. Postmaster of Dixon, was honored by being elected the first president of the new organization. The other officers are as follows: vice-president, D. S. Sharer, postmaster of Mt. Meetings will be held four times each year in the various cities in the Rock river valley. The purpose of the newly organized body is to build up and maintain a better postal service by exchanging viewpoints and through the question box. An invitation has been sent to all post offices in the Rock River valley, urging postal workers in all branches of the postal service to attend any or all meetings.

MAGNET TRUCK PICKS METALS OFF HIGHWAYS

Attention of the Illinois division of highways of the state department of public works and buildings has been called to a magnetic truck which is now in use on roads of Arkansas and which by picking up small pieces of metal such as nails and tacks reduces the hazards of motoring.

In use on gravel roads, the truck has collected an average of slightly more than twelve pounds of metal such as nails for each mile traveled. Officials of the state of Arkansas are of the opinion that use of the truck has greatly reduced the driving dangers which result from tire punctures and blowouts. The truck travels at the rate of seven miles an hour.

The machine is equipped with three large magnets, one of each side and one at the rear center of the truck. The machine was designed by J. A. Francis, equipment supervisor for the state of Arkansas.

The three magnets pick up so much loose metal that it is necessary that the electric current be turned off and the swinging arms cleaned each mile.

Commenting on the most unusual things he has ever found attached to the magnets, High Beam of Little Rock, Ark., the operator said that on one occasion he noticed a cow which apparently had been following him for almost a mile. Upon investigation, he ascertained that one of the magnets had attracted the chain by which the cow had been staked and the animal had been forced to follow the truck.

Included in the collection of articles picked up by the truck, Mr. Beam listed one manhole cover, sixteen pairs of pliers, fourteen screw drivers, thirty wrenches, twenty-seven pocket knives and one .32 caliber revolver.

Breakdown in Administration of Relief After July 1 Feared

Chicago, June 16—(AP)—A breakdown in relief administration in Illinois after July 1, when relief responsibilities are turned over to township supervisors, was predicted today by Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission.

"There is not a township in Illinois that has the funds to function," he told a meeting of the commission. He estimated that the $2,000,000 which will be allotted the various units from the state sales tax will meet only about 40 per cent of the needs.

K. L. Ames, Jr., director of the state department of finance and a member of the commission, issued a statement in which he warned that "local communities in Illinois, especially Chicago and Cook county, will face a serious situation July 1 unless they take prompt measures to meet their relief responsibilities."

DiMaggio Easily Star Of Month In Yankee Outfield

New York, June 16—(AP)—There's no question as to baseball's star of the month during the second 30-day period ending yesterday. It was Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' sensational rookie outfielder.

Seven times during the period, DiMaggio was listed among "Yesterday's Stars" by The Associated Press. The only player who rivaled the youthful star was Dizzy Dean and he gained the honor only four times. DiMaggio won his ranking largely because of his timely hitting while Dean earned his runner-up position with his good right arm.

Altogether 117 players in the two leagues were mentioned one or more times as being largely responsible for victories scored by their teams. Lefty Grove, Bill Dickey, Hal Trosky, Billy Sullivan and Frankie Frisch, all of whom tied with Jimmie Foxx and Van Mungo for the lead during the first month, failed to place among the leaders this time, however.

tators. She pitched a seven-inning 6-0 no-hit victory over the Night Owls, struck out 18 batters and threw out the other three at first.

JESSE OWENS IN SPOTLIGHT AT STAGG FIELD

Chicago, June 16—(AP)—An "ebony flash" may streak across a brilliant, star-studded field in the 15th annual intercollegiate track and field championships on Friday and Saturday at Stagg field.

In what shapes up as the greatest collegiate meet in years, practically a preview of the United States Olympic track and field team, Ohio State's famous Jesse Owens will be the performer most closely watched.

The great Negro star, who a year ago at Ann Arbor tied one world's record and bettered three other existing world marks within an hour and a half, will get a chance to surpass his great 1935 performance. In the sprints, hurdles and middle distance events there will be two tapes and two sets of timers and the winners and their times in both metric and linear distances will be taken.

A track field may press the Buckeye streak to record times. Chink Wallender, Texas captain who has done the 220-yard dash in :20.5 this year, may cause trouble.

while Sam Stoler of Michigan, who has met Owens three times and been in front at 75 or 80 yards only to be beaten, is much improved. Other stars will be Walker of Georgia Tech, Reeves of Texas, Daile of Loyola of the South and Mason of Pittsburgh. Owens may get competition in the broad jump from Eulace Peacock of Temple, one of a slim list of five men in the world who ever has cleared the 26 foot mark. The team championship fight appears to be between Southern California, which leads all schools in the number of titles won with four, and Ohio State and Indiana of the Big Ten. The Trojans will depend on balanced strength, Ohio State on Owens and Indiana on a well-rounded team headed by Don Lash, who cracked the World's two-mile record with an amazing performance at Princeton last Saturday.

Approximately 275 athletes from 80 schools are entered.

Schmeling Ends Training Today For Louis Fight

Napanoch, N. Y., June 16—(AP)—Max Schmeling welcomed his final day of training for Thursday's battle with Joe Louis today. The program, ending a grind of nearly six weeks, called for two rounds of sparring against Mickey McAvoy, who bumped into him Sunday and raised a bump over Max's right eye, two with Heinz Kohlhass and one with Jerry Johnson.

The signs of Sunday's collision had faded out today and nobody seemed at all worried about it.

Schmeling will remain in camp tomorrow but will do no boxing. He will leave for New York early Thursday morning.

PANTHERS DROP ROCKFORD GAME

P. N. A. Nine Emerges 4-3 Victors There Over Week-end

Dixon's Panthers were defeated at Rockford 4 to 3 in their contest with the Rockford PNA nine. Henry pitched his first game for the Panthers and allowed six scattered hits striking out nine opposing batsmen. The Panthers were also limited to six hits by Godzialski who struck out eleven Dixonsites. The Panthers scored in the first inning when Slain led off with a single and later scored as Wolford drove a triple to left center. Rockford scored in the second inning on a hit and an error tying the score.

The locals came back in the third frame to push one more run over the plate and go into the lead when the third baseman Kowalewski threw wild to first and Jim Burke scored putting the Panthers in the lead 2 to 1.

This lead was held until the sixth inning, but two walks and a single by Kowalewski tied the count. The PNA's pushed over another run in their half of the eighth on Dzilek's triple to center scoring Kowalewski.

The locals failed to come through in the ninth and thus lost a hard fought game. A return game is scheduled for the third Sunday in July here.

PROSPECT OF $1,000,000 GATE FADES TODAY

Public Confident Louis Will Win Very Easily

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 16—(AP)—Over-confidence may not affect the ability of Joe Louis to make relatively short work of Max Schmeling in their 15-round heavyweight match in the Yankee Stadium Thursday night but it has, relatively speaking, struck a blow at the gate receipts.

With the advance sale today going beyond the half-million mark, there is no danger of any of the parties involved losing money, but the "gate" is likely to fall considerably short of the goal of a million.

$750,000 More Likely

Even with a belated rush for the box-office the aggregate is unlikely to exceed $750,000, which means that Louis and Schmeling each may have to be satisfied with a paltry $200,000 for their efforts to entertain anywhere from 60,000 to 70,000 onlookers.

Until the public rush developed an unexpected million-dollar "gate" for the Louis-Baer fight last September, the first since depression days, anything like a half million dollars seemed just a dream to promoters. The punching power in the fists of Louis set the new boom going, revived box-office confidence and made the business "million-dollar conscious."

Originally Promoter Mike Jacobs scaled the stadium to handle a $1,205,000 house, at $40 top, for the Louis-Schmeling bout. The least of Mike's difficulties involved the disposal of the highest priced tickets. It's the apathy of the $5 and $10 customers that has affected the advance sale.

"I still have hopes the gate will hit that million mark," said Mike Jacobs today as he simultaneously juggled three telephones, held forth for the benefit of a few dozen newspapermen, and directed general arrangements. "The bad weather of the last few days has cooled things off a bit but we expect a rush for the block of seats offered especially to war veterans, who want to spend some of that bonus money."

Less Than 50,000 Sold
Less than 50,000 of the available 85,000 tickets have been sold, so that it will require a big rush if the fight is even close to a sell-out.

Primarily the apathy of the cash customers is traced to the belief Schmeling has no more than a Chinaman's chance to halt the sensational winning streak of the Brown Bomber. Not even the most strenuous publicity efforts to build up the German veteran's prospects, coupled with dark hints that Louis is a trifle stale, have altered the popular conviction that the Negro can name the punch and the round.

Many Contests For Plum Hollow Stag Guests Planned

Golfers are hopeful the fine weather of the past few days will continue at least until Friday inasmuch as the annual Plum Hollow stag day is on Thursday.

Beginning at 1 P. M. golfers will tee off in a series of attractive and novel contests lasting the entire afternoon. As they come in from their nine hole trips around the links they can stop momentarily at the caddy house, where on the spacious, hilly lawn, they can refresh themselves with the appropriate victuals.

Driving, putting and approaching contests will be held later in the afternoon. Last year putting contests were held on green number two and approaching contests on the second fairway leading to green number two. The driving contests were staged off No. 7 tee.

TWO-CLUB RACE NATIONAL LOOP; "A" RACE CLOSER

Bradley Dissatisfied With Indian Spirit As Club Trails

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

While the National league seems to be pretty well resigned to a two-club race with the Cardinals and Cubs in the leading race, and with the Giants and Pirates acting as dangerous pursuers, the clubs in the American outfit are taking desperate steps to keep their contest a close one.

Even though the ability of the Yankees to stay in front is doubted and the Red Sox haven't performed up to expectations, the efforts, especially at Cleveland, are becoming rather frantic. Always a tough spot for managers and players who couldn't produce, the lake-front city is on the verge of another shakeup unless the Indians begin to improve their position. They now are in fourth place, nine games behind the Yankees and trailing the world champion Tigers by a half game.

Threaten Changes
As they returned home from a painful eastern tour last night, President Alva Bradley threatened some "radical changes" unless a change for the better was made. That apparently didn't concern Manager Steve O'Neill, for C. C. Slapnicka, Bradley's assistant, commented:

"Apparently a player is a fighter or he isn't, and nothing Steve can do will change his nature. If the present Indians can't show more spirit we'll have to get some players who can."

A couple of changes in the lineup were due today as the Tribe opened a series with the Yankees, but not because of dissatisfaction. Hal Trosky, home run hitting first sacker, was laid on the shelf for a week because of a bruised shin and Billy Sullivan, the clouting young catcher, shifted to first. Sullivan has had considerable experience in that position. In addition Bruce Campbell, just recovered from his third attack of spinal meningitis, was due to return to the lineup.

Trading Past
With the deadline for interclub trading past, without any important last-minute developments, the Indians and all other clubs will have to look to the minors for any new material they need. Despite the usual blast of the trade winds just before the June 15 limit, the only recent deals of importance were the swap of Ben Chapman for Jake Powell between the Yankees and Senators and the Boston-Washington trade of Joe Cascarella for Jack Russell. The Cardinals secured some infield "insurance" by calling in Arthur Garibaldi from Sacramento and sending Johnny Vergez and Pitcher Bill Cox to their Pacific Coast league farm.

ROY RICE, ONCE OF DIXON, MAKES A HOLE IN ONE

Joins Select Class of Golfers by Fine Shot at Elgin

(Editor's Note—Roy Rice of Elgin, one of 68 other new members to The Associated Press' hole-in-one club mentioned in the following story, is formerly of Dixon. He is a son of M. E. Rice, who recently purchased the Nachusa Tavern here, and has many friends here who will congratulate him on his fine shot.)

New York, June 16—(AP)—John McKinley of Chicago joined The Associated Press hole-in-one club with 68 others this week but got stung for his achievement.

As John saw the little pellet drop into the cup of the 13th hole, a 175 yarder, at Westgate Country Club, he ran to the green. As he bent over to gaze with pride at the cup-snuggling ball, a bee stung him so severely on the leg that he had some difficulty getting back to the clubhouse.

With 69 new aces reported, the membership in the national hole-in-one club reached 595 this week. New Hampshire joined when W. R. Rice of Claremont dropped his tee shot on the 100-yard 15th hole at Newport, leaving only Idaho and Nevada golfers still to report. Texas reported three more to run its leading total to 67, but California, catching up daily, was in second place and running strong with 42.

Inter-City Race
In the inter-city race for aces, Indianapolis turned in three new members to take the lead with 19 as against 17 each for Dallas and Fort Worth, the runner-up, Tom Smith of East Orange, N. J., shot the longest ace of the week, scoring one on the 280-yard fourth at the Colonial Country Club, East Orange.

Other new members to report included:

DIXON TENNIS TEAM PLANNING DUAL MATCHES

Also Invited To Be In Rockford And Rochelle Meet

Interest in tennis here reached fever heat Monday with the announcement a town team has been formed of players already entered in the city tennis tournament which begins today.

The town team is composed of Ted Wallin, Howard Quick, Bill Krug and Paul Fenton in singles, while in doubles the following pairs will compete against teams of other communities: Krug-Quick, Wallin-Hilliker, Fenton-Moss, and Krug-Brown.

The team has tentatively engaged matches with DeKalb, Morrison, Sterling, and Princeton netters and has been invited by the Rock River conference to play the winner of that league August 15 in Rockford, probably at Maunautsee Country Club. The Rock River conference is composed of Freeport, Elgin, Rockford, and other cities of northern Illinois.

Howard Quick, manager of the local racquet-wielders, said Monday Rochelle has already invited Dixon to enter a tournament in that city about August 20.

"Bronko" Nagurski, rated one of the greatest fullbacks ever developed at Minnesota, will play with Roscoe and the Bears this fall in what is expected to be his last season of a brilliant professional career.

Baer Starting Comeback Drive

Salt Lake City, June 16—(AP)—Maxie Baer was back on the comeback trail today in an announced drive to regain fistie honors and the finances that go with them.

The former heavyweight champion, clown, boxed and slugged through six rounds last night to win a referee's decision over Tony Souza, 220-pound California boxer. Baer, weighing 226, dropped Souza for three short counts in the fifth round, but failed to follow up his advantage. He also floored the coast brawler in the second round.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

THE Archangel Michael stands highest, next to God, as the conqueror of Satan, and so his place is where the danger is greatest—high on a rock in the Bay of Saint Michel, in northern France, overlooking the immense ocean. There stands the great cathedral built 900 years ago in his honor, 235 feet above the roaring waves. It is the Archangel's "Mount in Peril of the Sea," and is considered one of the finest pieces of Norman architecture.

The Abbot Hildebert began this masterpiece to St. Michael, who was then patron saint of France, in 1020. But in 1818 the facade began to give way, and in 1876 the facade and three of the seven spires of the nave had to be pulled down, to save the rest of the church. Now, rebuilt, the cathedral retains four arches of the Abbot Hildebert's nave and some of the columns.

The famous cathedral is pictured on the 5-franc stamp issued by France in 1930.

At the head of the table are shown the vice-chairman, short-sleeved Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, and (wearing vest) the chairman, a strong Landolite, Attorney Herman M. Langworthy of Kansas City, Mo. At the extreme left is William Allen White, famed Emporia, Kan., publisher, who played a major role in framing the platform.

TWO FRIENDS OF POPE ELEVATED

Made Cardinals at a Secret Consistory in Vatican Monday

Vatican City, June 16.—(AP)—Vatican City, June 15.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI raised two old friends to the princely rank of Cardinal Monday behind the guarded doors of a secret consistory.

The two new princes of the church are Monsignors Giovanni Mercati and Eugenio Tisserant, "bookworm" friends of the Holy Father.

The Pope, in an allocution delivered to the assembled Cardinals, invited the Catholic faithful throughout the world to pray the remainder of his life might spent in unceasing fruitful work.

He congratulated Catholic action organizations on their activities among laymen and said:

"These signs, which in the midst of many adversities indicate divine assistance in the face of an increase in the church's enemies, are increasingly generous with their aid, their comforts and proofs of fidelity."

In his invitation to the faithful, the Pope said:

"We invite the Catholic faithful to pray the Lord permit us as long as life lasts to spend it in unceasing, fruitful work for the divine glory and good of the soul."

The ceremonies were attended by 27 Cardinals including Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia.

Both of the new Cardinals were closely associated with the Pontiff for years before his election. Mercati came with him to Rome to take up his duties in the Vatican library. Tisserant has been associated with the library for 30 years.

"Already this RED CROWN'S saved me more than I paid for it—and I've still got it"

boosts Barclay B. Barnacle

Mr. Barnacle, known throughout the state for his prominence in Tall Stories Club circles, was glad to tell us how he solved the problem of gasoline costs. . . . We pass it on for what it's worth, which doesn't seem to be much.

"I USE our car all day, and my son, Barclay B. Jr., uses it all night. That used to take a lot of gas...until we switched to Red Crown, yesterday. 'Seems like right then our fortunes looked up. Why, only fifteen minutes after I'd bought the first tankful I stopped in the bank and found I had 85 cents more in my account. That's about five gallons saved."

"And this morning, after Junior had driven his girl 50 miles over to Lenoxville and 50 miles back to attend a lecture on Crop Rotation, there was still ten gallons left in the tank!"

"Course some would say Junior might just o' parked down the road a piece and never gone to Lenoxville. . . . but anyhow, I'll be buying Red Crown if I ever have to buy any gas again."

Mr. Barnacle's imagination runs away with him at times, it seems. Certainly it did THIS time!

ANNUAL FARMERS PICNIC AT PAW PAW ON THURSDAY

Outing, Sponsored by Co-operative Grain Co., Announced

Thursday the annual farmers' picnic, sponsored by the Paw Paw Co-operative Grain Co. will be held in Gibbs' Grove, beginning at 10 o'clock A. M. For the past thirteen years this organization has sponsored this annual outing and day of sports for this community and we hope there will be many more of them. With few exceptions, the weather has been ideal in every way, a rare June day usually prevailing. Last year was one of the exceptions when everything was rained out, but all plans were successfully carried out on the Fourth of July.

An entertaining program is always arranged by the committee in charge and brings something of interest and amusement to both old and young. Gibbs' Grove, where the picnics are held is a pretty spot, conveniently located and suitable for the various sports.

Plans are provided for the picnic dinner which is always one of the best things of the day, when good friends get together. Races of all kinds have been scheduled for the day and two ball games, one in the morning between Paw Paw and Cottage Hill and in the afternoon Waterman and West Brooklyn will cross bats. These games should be very interesting. Good music will precede the address which will be given by Attorney Jay Cantlin of Rock Falls.

A stand will be conducted by the farmers where all the cooling drinks, sandwiches and ice cream may be had.

At 8 o'clock a free program on Main street by the Eakle family of Waterman will be given and their program of tap dancing, specialty musical numbers and other features will be an added attraction.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER TO POULTRY RAISERS

I have been in Kansas this week and it certainly is good to see the country looking so fine, but of course I had my eye on chickens. A friend of mine who is in the poultry business out there took me to see Louise Newkirk, a 4-H club member who lives near Great Bend, Kans., and who is as interesting a youngster as any with whom I ever talked.

I know some think I have been overly enthusiastic about New Hampshire, but she proved to me that my enthusiasm is not unwarranted.

On February 25 she got 400 New Hampshire chicks. They were thirteen weeks old when I saw them; she still had 388 birds—and they averaged close to 4½ pounds!

I realize as I write it that you are going to say that is impossible. I can't blame you. I would have said the same thing myself—before I saw the chickens!

Cleans the House Every Day.
When the chicks were small, she had the brooder house so filled with feeders that they couldn't turn around without finding feed in front of them. There was nothing else for them to do but eat. So they ate! And they grew unbelievably fast.

At 9 o'clock every morning she cleans the house. I got there about ten and it was all done—the roosts were cleaned off, there was fresh litter on the floor, and the feeders and water fountains were filled.

"It doesn't take long," she explained, "when you do it every day." I have seen lots of poultry houses that looked fancier, but I've never seen one any cleaner than hers, and that's what counts so far as the health of the chickens is concerned.

At 4½ Pounds Birds Cost 36¢.
She knows exactly what it has cost her to produce those chickens. I saw her account book. She doesn't fool herself. The scratch grain she uses from her father's farm is entered at its market value.

She paid 15 cents apiece for the chicks—a price which would stagger most people. But she didn't even blink at it. At the end of thirteen weeks her birds had cost her 36½ cents apiece, and that includes the 15 cents she paid for the chick.

If she sold her chickens at 4½ pounds on the present market, she could double her money! I'm afraid well have to admit that a girl—sixteen or seventeen years old—has beat most of us at our own game!

Dixon Grain Team Wins Illinois Championship

Dixon high school's agriculture department was awarded second highest honors in the annual state vocational judging contest held at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, in Urbana last week end.

The members of the team were Robert Williams and Steven Berel who have been outstanding students during their four years in high school. Williams ranked as second highest individual while Berel was fourth.

Williams Second High.

By JAMES S. THOMAS
President, Clarkson College of Technology

James S. Thomas

Civilized men have pretty generally conceived the aim of life to be the opportunity to pursue cultural ideals. Since a certain amount of leisure is necessary to the pursuit of the arts, anything which contributes to that leisure is worth while.

The problem of food, clothing and shelter has loomed large in the history of man. It still does. Early civilizations were denied much in the way of culture because of the relative amount of time necessarily devoted to the acquisition of these necessities. The exclusive few who enjoyed leisure at the expense of human slavery paid an awful price for their cultural advantages. There is something pathetic about millions of men toiling most of their waking hours and getting nothing but food, clothing and shelter out of it. Yet this was the rule of life for most every civilization in the world before the advent of the machine.

Now this has been changed so effectively and so suddenly that its very accomplishment has seemed to many a problem. Science and the machine have thrust approximately eight hours a day of leisure upon millions who never before had any leisure. It is a blessing, but many of us have not recognized it.

There are so few principles in the situation. For securing the necessities of life we are using the same principles men have always used. We have always met the demands of men with work. All we have done is to discover new ways of working. We have substituted mechanical power for human muscle. "In the sweat of thy face" has been exchanged for the benevolent machine. And why not?

An unfinished story is the struggle to recapture the Garden of Eden—how to live without work. Men have wanted miraculous plenty but without worry and without too much toil. Once, men worked at it individually, most by prayer. Today, whole races are working with science and purposeful invention to bring back the days when men "lived without work." And we may be sure that when and if these days do come they will be the result of science and invention.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, ambitious to become a designer, comes to New York and—due to a stroke of luck—is hired by MADAME LIZETTE, proprietor of an exclusive shop. Madame proves temperamental and difficult to work for.

DEREK HARGREAVES, young artist, is interested in Gail. He also frequently sees DICK SEARLES, whose sister, ROSEMARY, was her roommate at school.

Meanwhile, in Arizona, Gail's uncle, MARK CHAPMAN, returns home after years of wandering, and finds his old home in the hands of the Traverses. Mark suspects the deal is crooked and gets in touch with GILES HARDING, New York lawyer. Harding tries to locate Gail.

Derek asks Gail to marry him and she agrees. Later a misunderstanding comes between them and LUCILLE TRAVERS, who wants Derek for herself, tells him that Gail is to marry Dick Searles.

Giles Harding comes to see Gail and tells her about the plot to buy her land. Gail, believing Dick Searles' pleasure in learning that she is rich is dimmed by the fact that no word has come from Derek.

One day, after another sweeps the Traverses' company into financial ruin, Gail, believing Derek in love with Lucille, expects to hear that they will be married soon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

NATALIE settled herself comfortably against a pillow. "I don't see why you haven't married Dick Searles long ago," she said, eyeing Gail. "He's an awfully nice chap—and then look at all the money he has. I know he's crazy about you. They all are! You'd never have any in-law troubles. I'm sorry I didn't see Mr. Searles."

The visit on Long Island was over and the two girls were back at the clubhouse, discussing the week-end.

"Yes," Gail agreed. "I'm sorry, too, that he wasn't here, but he was called away unexpectedly."

"To Arizona, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

"Is he interested in mines too?"

"Oh, he's interested in lots of different things. Perhaps mining is one of them, though I think this trip was in connection with some land he owns. Rosemary said something about an irrigation project. She thinks it would be a grand idea for us to fly out there with Dick and bring her father home."

"Oh, that would be great! Then you could meet your uncle and see your property," exclaimed Natalie.

"Yes, that's what she said."

"Why don't you do it, Gail?"

"Maybe I will."

GAIL tossed the morning newspaper aside. She knew she must make up her mind about a number of things. There was the proposed trip to Arizona and she did want to meet her long-lost uncle. Then there was Dick—he was still urging her to marry him. He'd asked her again this last week-end and again she'd turned him down. She really ought to do something about an apartment, but that hinged partly on her plans after her trip to the west.

Her little room was growing hotter by the minute, for it got the morning sun. Suddenly Gail thought of the announcement she had read about the gardens of Mrs. Peter Hinchcliffe on Long Island being open to the public today, a benefit affair for crippled children.

She picked up the telephone and learned that a train would leave in half an hour. She decided to go. It would be lovely to spend a day beneath the green, young-leaved trees, to hear birds sing instead of the raucous noises of Manhattan.

Perhaps away from all the clamor and dirt of the city she would be able to make up her mind about her problems.

"WELL," Mrs. Morton said,

smiling, "this is a pleasure. I'm helping Mrs. Hinchcliffe. I'll be busy meeting all those people—and her dark eyes roved across the landscape—"but I must have a talk with you, Gail. Won't you have tea with me about 4 o'clock? I'll meet you at the door of the Marquee."

"That will be lovely," Gail answered, though Mrs. Morton's keen eyes were quick to sense that beneath the girl's apparent brightness something was troubling her.

Bluebirds were darting about the old trees whose blossoms had already given place to miniature editions of the fine fruit they would bear later on. Gorgeous butterflies flew toward the garden and now and then there came the sharp "Tap, tap" of a woodpecker, carrying on his crusade for the extermination of grubs. How peaceful it was! Too peaceful even to disturb one's self solving problems.

"So you've enjoyed the afternoon? I'm so glad," declared Mrs. Morton later, adding a lump of sugar to her tea.

"Oh, it's been beautiful, but I've been terribly lazy. I thought when I came out here I'd have peace to think out some of my problems, but I'm no nearer to any conclusions."

"Have you so many problems then?"

"Quite a few," Gail told about her changed financial circumstances and the end of her career at Madame Lizette's.

NEWSPAPER OF FUTURE MAY BE IN TELEVISION

Transmitted Direct To Home If Either Space Provided

Washington, June 16.—(AP)—A conference on future trends of radio and television was held Monday at the National Press Club, to print a newspaper in the home by flashing it on a receiving set by facsimile transmission.

Chairman A. S. Prall of the communications commission envisioned such a development as he opened the conference, which attracted several hundred representatives of radio, newspaper, motion picture, and other interests.

Newspapers might desire to make use of such a system, he said, and eventually the commission, which is attending the meeting, might be called upon "to provide space in the ether for this service to the public."

Wants "Unlikely" Decision

Prall said that if the representatives of all branches of radio, as well as newspapers, magazines, and present broadcast station operators, should agree that such a development was "unlikely," then it would be helpful for the commission to find "there would be no great need for extra space" in allocating the radio spectrum.

At present, the commission limits commercial radio licenses to the space band below 30,000 kilocycles. Experimental licenses, however, have been granted in the higher frequencies.

Prall said these may be needed eventually for "new services," such as television, facsimile broadcasting, two-way police communication, aids for blind flying of aircraft, and other fields as they advance from an experimental to perfected stage.

Television might have a wide effect upon "existing broadcasting," he said.

To Safeguard Public

Prall said that in the event of far-reaching developments in television, it would be the duty of the commission "to safeguard the public investment in receivers." He referred to the millions of dollars expended on equipment for present radio facilities.

Need for international agreements to limit and protect the rights of all nations in radio was emphasized by Prall. He said this was true especially in North America and that the Canadian government was represented at the conference.

PROSPERITY OR SCARCITY?

UNDER THE NEW DEAL theory of benefiting the American farmer, 31 million acres of farm land have been taken out of production. To that extent, the amount of crops grown has been reduced.

This has had an unfortunate effect upon our farm population. It has thrown hundreds of thousands of farm laborers out of work. It has put them on relief rolls. In addition, it has caused scores of millions of dollars worth of farm products to be imported from foreign countries, thus putting American dollars in foreign pockets.

INSURANCE ALSO ON COOPERATIVE STANDARDS NOW

While co-operative marketing, cooperative buying and soil conservation will receive most attention at the American Institute of Co-operation in Urbana June 15-19, let no one overlook the great strides Illinois farmers have made in developing the Illinois Agricultural Association.

In a statement to the Lee County

Farm Bureau, the IAA says: "Insurance is one of the oldest fields of co-operation among farmers. Farm fire and windstorm mutuals were organized here soon after the Civil War. But few states have developed state-wide cooperative automobile, life, and fire and windstorm companies of the size we have in Illinois.

"Our Life Company is breaking all records for growth, strength and low mortality. The company hopes to reach 100 million of life insurance in force by July 31, which will be in just half the time it took the present record-holder, operating in several states, to achieve this volume. The company has $4,700,000 in assets, $750,000 policyholders' surplus and contingency funds, and $3,500,000 reserves. To date 56,000 policy holders are carrying protection in the company.

No less spectacular are the auto insurance company and the fire, wind and hail insurance company, both legal reserve mutuals. These two companies are also owned by the organized Illinois farmers and have shown consistent, rapid growth. The auto insurance company, limited to Farm Bureau members only, has 47,000 policyholders. Assets are given as $550,- 000 and policyholders' surplus as

$1,190,000. As in 1935, when $300,-

000 was returned, excess funds not needed for safety will be returned to policyholders.

The fire, wind and hail company is now on the risks of 25,000 policyholders. Considerably reinsurance business is also on the books.

A total of $212,000,000 of insurance is in force in all classifications. Assets are given as $426,000, with policyholders' surplus and contingency reserves totaling $247,000.

GOOD-BYE STREET CARS

Rockford, Ill., June 16.—(AP)—

Residents of Rockford will ride the street cars free on July 2 to a public bon fire at which one of the oldest street cars now in operation will be burned in the business district. The ceremony will mark the abandonment of the street car system. Modern buses will replace the trolleys on July 3.

VERA QUIT GAME

Elkton, Iowa, June 15.—(AP)—

When Vera Mackey, playing bridge with three friends, picked up a hand consisting of 13 spades she was so astonished she just threw in the cards without bidding. Two hands later they dealt

Vera 13 hearts. She weakly arose and quit the game.

COMPETITION OF BUYERS IS GOAL

I. A. A. Livestock Marketing Director in Address at "U."

Urbana, Ill., June 16.—(AP)—Competition between buyers more than the producers' selling agencies was advanced as the goal of the farmers Monday by Ray E. Miller of Chicago, director of livestock marketing for the Illinois Agricultural association.

In an address prepared for delivery to the American Institute of Cooperation at the University of Illinois at the opening of the five-day meeting, he said "our biggest problem lies in some of the mistaken ideas producers have about marketing in general and cooperative marketing in particular."

"They have been told that competition is the life of trade," he said. "Because of this, they believe that the more sales agencies there are, the more competition there is between those sales agencies to secure their business."

Protection Needs

"From the producer's standpoint, it is true he wants a certain amount of competition between the agencies that represent him in selling, but, obviously, where he needs the competition most is between buyers."

Several other agricultural specialists addressed the meeting, which was called to disseminate up-to-date information affecting the marketing and distribution of agricultural products.

Speakers on today's program included M. W. Thatcher of Washington, D. C., representative of the farmers' national grain corporation; Harry Rartke of Covington, Ky., president of the Cooperative Milk Association, and Talmage Deftrees of Smithboro, Ill., vice president of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Chester C. Davis, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will speak tonight.

Roosevelt Jr. Mum About Plans To Run For Congress Seat

Boston, June 16.—(AP)—James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President, has refused comment on a published report that he might seek a seat in Congress from a Massachusetts district.

The Boston American in a copyrighted article said Roosevelt might seek the seat now held by former Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge.

Roosevelt said he had not seen the published report and added "I have no comment to make on anything political whatsoever. My ac-

Third Birthday Of PWA Observed By New Dealers

Washington, June 16.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today celebrated the third anniversary of the public works administration by outlining the broad activities of the agency in the past, and asserting PWA "will fail to give the country its best" in the future.

"No contention has been made that PWA projects are not useful," said Ickes of the work for which $2,202,000,000 has been expended. He emphasized the divergency of the projects by saying:

"The great tri-borough bridge in New York City is a 'useful public work' and so, too, are the school-house at Lyme, Conn., and the disposal plant at Lumpkin, Ga."

The cabinet member declared that the money spent provided the equivalent of 2,000,000 year-long jobs three-quarters of which were in plants which provided materials and equipment for the PWA projects.

William Penn occupied the first brick house in America.

Activities in Boston are purely business.

Although he spends much of his time in New York, Roosevelt still retains a legal residence in Brooklyn at the estate of his father-in-law, Dr. Harvey Cushing.
